Starting October 28, 2019

Issued July 29, 2019: DHEC declared a statewide hepatitis A virus (HAV) outbreak in May 2019. Most of the cases are among men ages 30 to 49 and have occurred at a disproportionately higher rate among:

- (1) people who use injection or non-injection drugs;
- (2) people experiencing homelessness;
- (3) men who have sex with men; and
- (4) individuals who are or recently were incarcerated.

In South Carolina, more than 70% of cases have been hospitalized, and one person has died.

Vaccination is the best protection against HAV infection.
